Plenty of Proof

From People You Know—From Norway
Citizens

The greatest skeptic can hardly fail to be convinced by evidence like this. It is impossible to produce better proof of merit than the testimony of residents of Norway, of people who can be seen at any time. Read the following case of it:
M. M. Kilgore, Danforth Street, Norway, says: "I had backache and rheumatic pains for more than a year, caused by disordered kidneys. My kidneys acted irregularly and I was so lame and sore across the small of my back I could hardly stand. At night I rested but little, and was feeling miserable most of the time. I finally got Doan's Kidney Pills at P. P. Stone's Drug Store and a few boxes cured me."

Permanent Results
Over seven years later Mr. Kilgore said: "I gladly recommend Doan's Kidney Pills again as I am still a firm believer in them. The cure Doan's gave me has proven permanent."

Price 60c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Kilgore had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfrs., Buffalo, N. Y.

LOVELL CENTER
Glenor Thurston has been staying a few days at Frank Chandler's. Mrs. Carrie Adams, who has been working for Benjamin Russell, was called home in Paris by the illness of her son.

Carl Moody of Portland spent the week end with his family at Charles True's.
Mrs. Lucy Russell of Massachusetts is stopping a few days with her niece, Mrs. G. A. Kimball.

Ray Whitehead and family of Newark,
N. J., are at his father's for a few weeks.
Elmer Darnell and family of North
Lovell were guests of their aunt, Mrs.
Flora Nason, Saturday.

Mrs. Ava Keene and a friend from Bridgton, were at Otis Gilman's one day the past week.

Mrs. Herbert McKeen and two children, Mrs. Bessie Willard and Mildred Palmer, spent Tuesday with Mrs. Isabelle Files.

Elmer Andrews and family were at his father's one day the past week.
The ladies of the Christian Church are preparing for their annual church fair to be held August 12th.

KEZAR FALLS

George Stanley

George Stanley, seventy-two years of age, night watchman at Sokoikis, died very suddenly last Friday morning. Services conducted by Rev. Wm. Cotton of Hollis were held at his son's, Everett Stanley's, Saturday afternoon. Two selections were sung by Mrs. Lida Elliott and W. T. Norton. The bearers were Will Holmes, Alpheus Gilpatrick, Owen
Gilpatrick, and Jacob French.

Myron Ridlon, our popular druggist, had the misfortune to cut his knee badly with an axe, slicing a piece of bone right off.

The first republican rally or get-together meeting was held Wednesday evening when Mrs. Guy Gamett of Augusta spoke in the interest of woman suffrage.
Mr. White of Lewiston, and Mr. Parkhurst were among the speakers and Hon.
O. L. Stanley was chairman. Some 20 or 25 were in the party, the Kezar Falls band was in attendance and there was a large and interested audience.

Alton Bacon and wife and Myrtle Bacon were in Norway, Monday.

Mrs. Angeline Dudley Bowker is a very smart person for one who has passed her 87th birthday. She is very active and no one would think her of that age.

It is expected that the Universalist Church will be open for meetings throughout the balance of August. The service next Sabbath, August 8th, will be held at 2:30 p. m. sermon by Rev. C. G. Miller of South Paris.

Saturday was a half holiday here and the afternoon furnished entertainment at the V. I. S. field with an exciting ball game between the Woodstock Athletics and Maine Central of Rumford Falls.
At four o'clock a Republican mass meeting was held on the common. Speeches were made by Fred H. Parkhurst, Wallace H. White, Jr., and Mrs. Guy P. Gan-neth. The Rumford Falls Boys' Band furnished music.

Mrs. Caroline R. Taylor has moved from the Hathaway house on the Locke's Mills road to her daughter's home in Rumford. The Hathaway place is now occupied by Lewis Buck and family.

Alma Center of a year in the high school there is evidence of some changes in the corps of teachers. The term will begin early in September and it is understood that among the changes a new principal has been engaged.

FROM MAINE TO CALIFORNIA

The Maine party of twenty left Boston in a special car at 2 p. m., Saturday, June 19, for the Democratic National Convention at San Francisco, going via the Boston and Albany, New York Central, Michigan Central, Chicago and North Western, Denver and Rio Grande, and Western Pacific.

Traveling by the way of Worcester and Springfield, Mass., reached Albany, N. Y., early in the evening, and the following morning waked in Ontario. Reached Chicago at 3.30 p. m., Sunday June 20, remaining there until 11.20 p. m. The entire party took a sight-seeing trip around the city on one of the big buses.

Chicago has a splendid residential section, and is a city great in size and volume of business. There are fourteen parks and four thousand three hundred miles of streets and boulevards, also an amusement park, extending three thousand feet into Lake Michigan, having extensive dancing pavilions, etc. Took dinner at the beautiful Hotel La Salle.

Monday morning, June 21, found us crossing the great state of Iowa, with its thousands of acres of corn fields on either side, and herds of cattle here and there. The corn was smaller than expected by the Maine people, but it is certainly a wonderful agricultural country and this is equally true of much of the Middle West.

Reached Omaha, Neb., during the afternoon, and had time for a ride through the new residential section, also a short trip to the stock yards, called the second largest in the world.

Arrived in Denver, Col., at 8 a. m., Tuesday, June 22, stopping there about one hour. Denver is a beautiful city, with splendid streets, public buildings, residences, and a marvelous system of parks. Denver is situated at an altitude of about seven thousand feet above sea level.

After leaving Denver passed through much barren country before reaching Colorado Springs, which is a great summer resort, and a great mining town. Much of this country is densely populated with prairie dogs, which seem to be the only living things which attract attention.

At Canon City an open observation car was taken on for the trip through the wonderful Royal Gorge. Following up the Arkansas River the railroad winds its way through this wonderful chasm with towering cliffs hundreds of feet high on either side, where it would seem at times that the jaw of the train might dislodge hundreds of tons of rock from high over head, burying at one slide everything below. At one point the river is crossed on a hanging bridge suspended by steel girders crossing the entire canon.

Reached the Continental Divide at Tennessee Pass at 9 a. m. This is at an altitude of 10,242 feet, and was very cool at this place. Early in the morning of June 23 reached Green River, Utah, and for many hours after saw little but rocks, sand and sage brush.

Arrived at Salt Lake City at 3 p. m., and later attended a special musical service at the great tabernacle, which seats 10,000 people. Salt Lake City has beautiful homes, splendid public buildings, and wonderful streets, nearly all of which have sufficient elevation for constant flushing of the gutters by an apparently unlimited supply of water, brought from the mountains twenty miles away. It is certainly a clean and well-kept city in all ways. This section was as barren as all the surrounding country only seventy-three years ago when the first band of less than a hundred and fifty people wandered over the mountains and through the desert to the present site of this beautiful city. But one tree stood in that section at that time where there are now thousands which have all been planted.

The greatest surprise was the tax rate, which is $21.80 for 1920. The entire party were delighted with the city, its fine hotels, and the universal courtesy of the people. The population is about 120,000. There seemed to be little business in the way of manufacturing, but about twelve miles from the city was a great smelting plant with a payroll of about $4,000,000 monthly. This, and the wonderful supply of salt explains the ability to have all the fine streets, public buildings, and beautiful homes.

A bus ride around the city was enjoyed on the morning of June 24. The announcer who accompanied the party gave many interesting facts, among which was a description of the manner in which Brigham Young disposed of his large property. He gave $40,000 and a home to each of 19 wives, he gave $20,000 and a home to each of 52 children, and 10,000 to each of 17 mothers-in-law, but no home.

Regardless of wives and children, and his method of disposing of his property, Brigham Young must have been a genius, with a wonderful vision in connection with the possibilities of the future, and he also must have had the assistance of many other able people.

Salt Lake City was left at 2.40 p. m., and much of the time for the next eighteen hours was spent passing through deserts of sand and rocks in Utah and Nevada.

One of the first towns reached in California was Oroville, where we were met by a reception committee who certainly succeeded in doing everything possible in a big way for the Maine party. The station was beautifully decorated and the hundreds of people at the station literally loaded everyone down with olives, fresh figs, cherries, plums, and flowers, and when the train pulled out after a ten-minute stop everyone seemed to be cheering for Maine and California.

Arrived at Oakland at 9 p. m., about three hours late. Ferried across the bay, about five miles, and were soon quartered at the Palace and Argonaut hotels where the Maine party had been assigned rooms. We were all tired and dirty and were soon seeking baths and rest.

Saturday, June 26, was spent in sight-seeing and getting acquainted with delegates from other states. Sunday, June 27, visited the great Golden Gate Park and Seal Rocks, where seals are to be seen in great numbers at all times. Also visited the Presidio, which is a great military camp, and just off shore from this is Alcatraz Island, which is a military prison.

One place of interest in San Francisco was Chinatown, which has a population of about 20,000 Chinese people. This is claimed to be the largest number of Chinese in any one place outside the Orient.

San Francisco is a splendid city, now fully recovered from the great calamity of earthquake and fire which took place in 1906.

One unique thing here was the municipal street railway, running parallel to the corporation owned lines, and the city fear of being molested.

ies of the West are still on a basis of five and six cent fares, which seemed strange to the New England people. The civic centre of San Francisco represents something like $10,000,000 in public buildings.

Monday, June 28, the convention opened at the auditorium, which is a building with a seating capacity of about 15,000, and splendidly adapted to such purposes. At no time was there any discomfort from heat while in San Francisco, and even in the crowded auditorium this was equally true.

The story of the convention is familiar to all, and it is sufficient to say that James M. Cox of Ohio was nominated on the forty-fourth ballot at about 1.40 a. m. Tuesday, July 6, followed in the afternoon by the nomination of Franklin D. Roosevelt of New York as the candidate for the Vice-Presidency. So passed into history one of the longest Democratic conventions ever held in the country.

After the adjournment of the convention difficulties were plentiful, as thousands of people wished to leave San Francisco as soon as possible, and there was one great scramble to secure sleeping car reservations and get tickets validated.

The Maine party now scattered, some going to Los Angeles for a few days, others remaining a day or two longer at San Francisco, but ten left there at 10.20 p. m., ferrying to Oakland in order to take the 11 p. m. train for Portland, Oregon. This train was run in five sections of all sleeping cars.

Wednesday, July 7, was a day of sweltering heat, as we traveled north through Oregon, and the snow-clad slopes of Mount Shasta towering 14,880 feet above the sea level looked good as the train circled through the mountains. Mount Shasta was seen first on one side of the train and then on the other, as the railroad is extremely circuitous and a marvel of engineering made necessary in getting through the mountains. During the day saw some of the great pine which grows in this section, larger but not as handsome as Maine's white pine.

The Shasta Springs gave a bit of relief for a few moments from the heat, as the train stopped there long enough for all to get a drink of pure cold water.

These springs are wonderful, as they gush in many cases right from the solid rock.

Arrived in Portland, Oregon, at 7.20 a. m., July 8, leaving there at 8 o'clock. This is a great lumber city on the Columbia River. The logs seen in the river were much larger than those cut in Maine. Saw much good farming land and large herds of fine looking cattle, also the largest fields of potatoes seen on the entire trip. Some of the potato fields of Washington made us think of Aroostook County, Maine but not to be compared with our garden of Maine.

Reached Seattle, Washington, at 3 p. m. This is another great lumber city, and also having great fishing industries. It is claimed that Seattle stands next to New York in volume of export trade. We were given a ride around the city, which has splendid streets, paved to a great extent with brick. The boulevard around the shore of Lake Washington is a beautiful drive. This is a fresh water lake twenty-five miles in length, which is connected with the sea by a canal. Seattle has a sixty dollar tax rate per thousand dollars on a fifty per cent basis of value. This is a splendid city of about 350,000 people.

Left Seattle for a Canadian Pacific Railroad steamer for Victoria and Vancouver. We did not see Victoria, which is called one of the finest cities in the far West, as we called there during the time when every one was in their staterooms. Had a smooth passage, reaching Vancouver at 8 a. m., July 9. Vancouver is a fine city which has been practically rebuilt since the great fire which took place there thirty-one years ago. It is a city with a great lumber and fishing trade.

Left Vancouver for Montreal at 3 p. m. Was very tired, but enjoying the scenery on the Trans-Canada, which is a splendid train made up of five standard sleepers, a club observation car, and a diner. The 2885 miles from Vancouver to Montreal is made in 92 hours, with the longest stop one of thirty minutes at Winnipeg. The Canadian Pacific said to be one of the finest railroads in the world, and certainly the service on this train in all respects was first class. The dining car service was of the best, and only one change was made during the trip across the continent.

From Vancouver the Canadian Pacific Railroad follows the Fraser River several hundred miles back through the Siikik mountains to the Canadian Rockies. This is a wonderful series of engineering feats in the way of tunnels and bridges to get through the mountains. During the evening as we were winding around the mountain side a wonderful scene was spread out for several miles along the side of the mountain across the river where forest fires were burning over an area of many hundreds of acres. This was a pretty well looking scene as we were winding along the side of the mountain, hundreds of feet below, the river, hundreds of feet above, the towering mountains, and the blazing forest on the other side.

At 6.30 a. m., July 10, reached Glacier in the Canadian Rockies. It was very cold here, and snow was to be seen close by on the mountains in every direction. The scenery was wonderful and entirely different from the American Rockies, as there is much spruce timber here, large and tall, while much of the way through the American Rockies the mountains are practically bare of trees and vegetation. A tunnel of five miles in length passes through Mount Donald, and later in the day the spiral tunnels were passed, where the road crosses under itself in the mountains as it drops to lower levels.

In the early afternoon Lake Louise and Banff were passed, where the Canadian Pacific Railroad has large summer hotels high in the mountains, with snow on either hand. Late in the afternoon got away from the mountains and passed through a section of rolling country where we commenced to see grain and herds of horses and cattle.

On the morning of July 11 waked in a country which seemed about the same throughout the day, being a rolling land which looked dry and not particularly productive, but great quantities of wheat is raised through this section, also many horses and cattle. Rain was heavily raised in this section and within a few hours after our passage a rain fall of over one inch took place which completely raised the crop of that whole section several bushels per acre according to estimate.

There are many shallow lakes through this section and in some places many ducks were seen apparently without any present time. The new buildings are most-

NORWAY,

MAINE

Reached Winnipeg, Manitoba, at 5.55 p. m., where we spent thirty minutes, getting opportunity for the greatest amount of exercise in crossing the country.

Early in the morning of July 12 reached Port William on Lake Superior, and here and at Port Arthur a few miles distant are the great grain elevators for handling the immense quantities of grain shipped by the lake route.

All day Monday we journeyed first along the shores of Lake Superior and then gradually getting more to the north and away from the lake. This is said to be the largest fresh water lake in the world and is called four hundred miles in length. This country is mostly unattractive, having neither agricultural land nor standing timber of any material amount along the line of the railroad. There are practically no towns, with the exception of the little settlements occupied by section men and the water tank stations.

Tuesday morning, July 13, reached Chalk River in Ontario, and soon after commenced passing through the splendid farm land of eastern Ontario. Great lumber towns of Renfrew and Arnprior on the Ottawa River were passed during the morning. Arrived at Ottawa, the capital of the Dominion of Canada, before noon. This is a fine city with splendid Parliament buildings, hotels and fine residences.

Reached Montreal at 2 p. m. and took an automobile trip around the city, visiting the water front, business section, residential part, Mount Royal, where the city can be seen spread out almost at the foot, with a great flat country stretching away for miles on the other side of the Saint Lawrence, with its towns of whitewashed houses surrounded by splendid farm lands. It would be difficult to find a section having finer home gardens of both flowers and vegetables than may be found among the French Canadian people of the province of Quebec. Montreal has grown rapidly during the past few years, and much building of fine homes is going on at the present time. The new buildings are mostly of brick. At 8.20 p. m. took sleeping car at the Grand Trunk station homeward bound, and it was with a great feeling of satisfaction that home was now so near. Took breakfast in Maine the following morning, well and happy at being back again. The entire trip covered twenty-five days.

Some Observations
Dozens of Maine people were met between Maine and California. The car was placarded with inscriptions which identified the party as being from Maine and queries like "anybody from Aroostook County?" "anybody here from Kennebec?" "who came from Portland?" were frequently heard.

At San Francisco many people came to the hotel to inquire for Maine people, among whom were two former Norway men, Mr. George Gibson and Mr. Albert Hobbs, who are now located in California.

The trip was of pleasure and profit to all the Maine party. pleasure in traveling together and the many sights and scenes of an interesting nature, profitable from the many things learned about our own splendid country and the Dominion of Canada, which was crossed through all the different provinces from ocean to ocean. It is safe to say that all the Maine people returned loving the old home state even better, and firmer in the belief that here are possibilities that are equal to any seen in all the journey. It would be well for Maine if all her people, the fathers and mothers, the boys and girls, could but see the rest of our great country, make comparisons and then perhaps conclude that after all here is the place where the greatest degree of comfort and material prosperity may be found.

Fernald's Mills.

Mrs. Ellen Davenport and little grandson, Warren Davenport of Worcester, Mass., spent the day Saturday at G. H. McAlister's.

Alton Fernald met with quite a loss the past week. One of his three-year-old steers failed to make its appearance with its mate so a party of several men went in search of him and found him dead, having fell from the top of Squire Dock over the ledge where the big slide was several years ago.

Mrs. Alton Ripley of Portland came to her father's, E. E. Barker's one day last week and got her little daughter, Pauline, Ruth Barker and little Virginia returned to Portland with her.

Mrs. Harriet Wilson has been on a visit the past two weeks to South Paris visiting her brothers, Wm. Rand, J. B. Rand, and a niece, Mrs. Iva Bryant. She is now stopping with Mr. and Mrs. Clifford McAlister at Locke's Mills.

Clarence McAlister is on the sick list with a bad cold and cough.

Clayton Penley has spent the last two weeks with his brother, Carl Penley, in North Albany.

Ora Saunders and wife attended the funeral Sunday of their little grandson, one of the twin sons of Mr. and Mrs. Carlton Saunders of North Albany.

Christine Littlefield has returned to her home from the Sisters' Hospital in Lewiston, where she went about three weeks ago and was operated on for appendicitis. She is getting along finely.

Kimball Hill

Floyd Coolidge was at home from Rumford Point, Sunday.

W. W. Brinck and sons of North Newry were at their farm here looking after their potatoes and patching the roof of the barn, Saturday and Sunday.

Edgar Swan of Providence, R. I., called on his sister, Mrs. G. L. Haines, Thursday.

Lester Coolidge was at home from No. Newry over the week end.

William Bennett of Locke's Mills was at his farm Monday and hauled back a load of hay.

W. E. Coolidge and family were at North Newry, Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Haines of West Paris visited at G. L. Haines' one evening recently.

W. E. Coolidge is cutting the hay on the Nelson Bartlett farm.

DENMARK

The "Inn" and Camps are well filled with boys and girls, and their parents, so that together with the interest of the past week, is surely a gentle reminder of "the good old summer time."

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ingalls of Cambridge are guests of Mrs. Fred Sanborn.

Mrs. Julia Leeman, who has been ill for a long time, is a little more comfortable. She is at the home of her sister, Mrs. Mollie Stewart.

Roy Osgood, who has been suffering with blood poison in his arm, is gaining. Mrs. Ellis Blake and little daughter Edith spent the day in Portland, Saturday.

Thursday, July 29, the town of Denmark was favored by a flying visit from the State National Suffrage Committee. The public was not very well informed in regard to the itinerary so very few of our townspeople met our distinguished visitors. Those present were greatly interested in remarks from our nominee for Governor, Frederick Parkhurst, from Frank Ham, chairman of the Republican State Committee and from Miss Edwards of Indiana, national organizer of women's Republican organizations and a noted leader on the woman suffrage movement, also Mrs. Guy Gamett, who represents the women on the Republican national committee.

The speakers did not seem anxious to discuss principles so much as to regulate action. Women taking part for the first time in a national election were advised to thoroughly acquaint themselves with their new duties, especially was organization urged upon them, and while personal effort was not undervalued, they were advised to put the same amount of energy into well organized team work. The Denmark Suffrage Committee were all present and will doubtless make use of the advice and information obtained.

WEST FRYEBURG

The farmers are nearly done haying with the exception of those who cut meadow grass. Some have secured more hay than last season, but many not as much.

Quite heavy showers have passed around us, the past week, but we have had slight ones, giving us relief.

Guy Eastman, a former resident here, but now of Beverly, Mass., with a friend made a flying call on his old friends Aug. 1. They started from Beverly late Saturday evening and encountered many showers on the way, arriving at Hermon Gilman in the "wee small hours" Sunday morning, and returned home the same day.

Mrs. Sarah Stevens Young of Porter is a guest of her children, Lloyd, Charles, and Frank Stevens. She is in very poor health, having received a fall from her hammock and with her former poor health is now trying to regain strength.

Mrs. Ella Sands of Boston is with her brother's family, Parker Charles, whose mother was the victim of an accident, a few weeks ago.

Elvira Ethel of Portland, a former teacher here, was the week end guest at Henry Andrews'.

Mrs. Mollie Hill Murch has been the guest of her sister, Mrs. J. T. Boutwell.

Mr. Frank Knox remains very low.

SWEDEN

Claude Gray of Connecticut is stopping at his old place. His mother is with him.

Louville Davis of Attleboro, Mass., is visiting his brother, George Davis and sister, Mrs. Lizzie Merrill.

Lee Gray from South Windham visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Gray.

Mrs. J. P. Libby has returned from Portland much improved in health. Mr. and Mrs. John Bell and children of Lovell called on friends here, Sunday.

TELEPHONES FOR PERMISSION

What do you think of having to telephone for permission to run from a flock of bears—then having your more or less satisfactory proposal turned down? That is what happened to J. W. Hodge, a game guard on the Shenandoah National Forest, a few days ago.

Hodge was stationed at the lookout tower on Hawks Mountain. It was his duty to watch the skyline and to make expert diagnosis of any far away smoke signals or any other indication of fire in the forest. This particular morning when he went to the lookout tower on the mountain top, he failed to attach a gun to his person. It was a mere oversight, anyone—and guns are cumbersome things to carry around.

Well, he got into his lookout box and began searching the dim blue distances for smoke like the further fringes of the world. He was very busy at that for a while. Then his eyes came back closer to him, and he saw a bear. He was startled, but he saw made him wish to an airplane to take him immediately to those far fringes. Three bears were prowling around only a little distance from his lookout tower. They were not apparently giving him any trouble, but he did not know how soon they might become hungry. There being no telephone at hand, he decided to use his legs.

Then he remembered he could not leave his post without permission, so he called a Ranger, Ranger Shanklin, laid the case before him, and requested permission to go for his gun. He was promptly told that the thing was impossible. The bears were dry, and fire might start anywhere at any time. Bears or no bears, it was Hodge's business to stay in his lookout box. Being a perfectly good force guard, he stayed. Fortunately another lookout happened to listen in on the telephone conversation and succeeded in sending help to Hodge.

T. B. ON THE DECREASE

The past year which was marked with a lessening death rate for nearly all communicable diseases, shows a further encouraging sign in the phenomenonally low figure of tuberculosis deaths in Maine during the past twelve months. The total of deaths for tuberculosis in all forms in Maine during 1919 was but 739 of which 638 were of the pulmonary type. Just how markedly downward is the tendency of this "white plague" can be shown no more strikingly than by a comparison of the figures for 1919, the year when Maine was first admitted to the federal registration area, and the first recorded statistics were made. For that year there were 1513 tuberculosis deaths of which 1392 were pulmonary. These figures indicate that the disease has been reduced practically one-half in the last 23 years and brings the hopeful message of still further reduction which can be safely predicted for the future.

Here again, thinks the Maine Department of Health, is a potent example of the tremendous efficiency of public health work, both local and state wide. Public education along the lines of prevention and cure, as worked out by medical scientists and investigators is responsible in a large measure for the reduction of the tuberculosis situation. No more hopeful sign of the times, from the viewpoint of public health can be imagined than the steady lowering of the tuberculosis death rate. It was in 1912 that the number of T. B. deaths first fell below 1000, never to exceed that number again, and the decrease in the last decade has been uniformly steady except in 1918, the influenza year, when an increase by fifty deaths was recorded. This year's figure of 739 is indeed a record breaker.

Pulmonary tuberculosis, which is by far the most prevalent type, has followed closely the record of the general figures of the past quarter century, and this year for the first time numbered less than 700 deaths, having dropped almost an entire hundred, from 721 to 638 in the past year.

BOYS' AND GIRLS' CLUBS

The final figures of enrollment in boys' and girls' clubs in Maine this year show a total of 3655 in the 16 counties. Aroostook leads, with 457 members, and Somerset is second, with 425. The other counties finished in this order: Hancock, 377; Androscoggin and Sagadahoc, 376; Penobscot, 359; Franklin, 251; Oxford, 247; Kennebec, 165; Washington, 137; Knox and Lincoln, 112; Piscataquis, 100. Of the eight projects, sewing has the largest enrollment, 766, and gardening is second, 701. There are 639 in cooking, 268 in housekeeping, 236 in potato raising, 237 in pig clubs, 157 in sweet corn and 24 in flint corn. Aroostook leads in three projects, potatoes, sewing and cooking, and in housekeeping; Hancock in canning and poultry; Somerset in pigs; Oxford in sweet corn and Androscoggin and Sagadahoc in flint corn.

The special prizes of $15 each, offered by the Maine Central Railroad Co. for the best litter of pigs raised this year, are awarded as follows: Androscoggin, Charles H. Gibbs, Livermore Falls; Hancock, Ralph Young, Kennebec; Kennebec, Wallace True, Litchfield; Oxford, Leroy H. Hersey, North Waterford; Penobscot, Charles Page, Brewer; Waldo, Hattie McKinley, Jackson.

ONLY DIFFERENCE IN OPINION Smith has a car; he is very proud of it. But the neighbors are rather scornful about Smith's car. Perhaps they are jealous.

Anyhow, the other day he drove around to a local garage and asked the man there what was the best thing to do with it.

The garage man looked the car over in silence for several minutes, after which he grasped the horn and tooted it. "You're quite a good horn there," he remarked quietly. "Suppose you jack it up and run a new car under it!"

FAMILY REUNIONS

At this time of year the most important social function is the family reunion. From now on until State Fair and later, the family reunions will be about as numerous as debutante balls in the winter. Informal affairs they are, to be sure, because they spring from and belong to the home; but do not think them any less important than the most ceremonious occasions. There is no kind of gathering which has a truer or more beautiful meaning. Such reunions are a sort of affirmation of the ties of family which lie at the very basis of our whole social fabric. They maintain and strengthen our greatest American institution—home, fortunate and prosperous, is the state whose families thus cling together.

And no less fortunate is the individual whose family is actuated by a spirit of loyalty, or, if you like, clanishness. Brothers who waste their time and resources quarreling among themselves are seldom able to accomplish anything of importance. But we all know of families who have won fame and success in various lines, simply by sticking together. The Rothschilds form a striking example in the world of finance, the Barrymores on the stage. Just plain, old-fashioned loyalty, rightly conceived and employed, can conquer the world.—Ohio State Journal.

UNIVERSAL BENEFIT OF ADVERTISING

Without advertising large scale production is absolutely impossible, and large scale production is necessary for low prices. Furthermore, advertising secures to the public the goods of the best quality. Advertising puts no royal crown on the head of a humbug.

This observation is as truthful as it is forcibly put. The history of advertising concerns show that fair and square dealing with the public is positively essential in business management. None but an honest dealer will vouch for the genuine quality of his goods in the terms, "Satisfaction Guaranteed or Money Refunded."

The whole object of advertising, in fact, is to secure a steady, regular line of customers and this would be impossible if a firm became publicly notorious for trickery. The best advertisers are the most scrupulous against any misrepresentation and disclaim the rule of the covert trader, which means that if a customer is bilked in making a purchase it is his own fault and the law gives him no redress. Whoever remembers business methods of half a century ago knows that those of the present are far more reputable. And this improvement is due wholly to honest and persistent advertising. Stores now stand or fall by their frank and open appeal to the public, and it is only unremitting advertising that makes their names household words in every family. Advertising, in short, makes for cheap goods, honest goods, and satisfying goods in every way.

CANNING POWDERS SHOULD NOT BE USED

In some communities there is a widespread use of canning powder. Both borate and salicylate acid are bought by druggists for this purpose. Large quantities of these acids are also sold at a high price under fanciful canning compound names.

The United States Department of Agriculture warns against the use of canning powder or canning compound. Their use encourages careless and uncleanly work, and their excessive use may be attended with serious effects upon digestion and health. It is entirely practicable to "put up" fruit and vegetables so that they will keep indefinitely by processing the products with heat. There is no reason for taking the risk of using canning powders.

The ten cent watermelon is something historical.

FARM WOMAN TELLS HER OWN STORY

Waste of woman power is one of the great menaces to the rural life of the nation, according to the deductions of specialists drawn from a farm-house survey conducted in the thirty-three northern and western states. The records cover 10,015 farm homes, averaged by taking typical communities of the counties in which the survey was made.

From the facts made plain by the survey, it would seem that a reasonable amount of planning and well-directed investment in modern equipment for farm homes would prevent a large part of the wastage of the energy of the nation's rural home makers.

How the Study Was Made It may be asked to what extent the conditions of the 33 Northern and Western States. It was requested that State colleges in selecting the counties to be surveyed carry out the following plan: (1) Choose the most typical farming counties of each State; (2) take one or more of the most typical farming communities in each county; (3) secure a record from every farm home in the locality selected, irrespective of size, farm tenure, prosperity of farm family, or other conditions; (4) select, if possible, a locality containing from 35 to 50 homes; and (5) include in the survey none but bona fide farm homes. A study of the returns shows that these requests were fairly well complied with.

If we follow the average woman of the survey through one day's routine, some conception will be gained of the vitality and skill called into play by her duties as cook, seamstress, laundress, nurse, and factor in community life, as well as producer of dairy, garden, and poultry products.

Compared with even 10 years ago the returns of the survey show a big change for the better in the conditions existing in the farm homes of this country; 32 per cent now have running water in the house, 22 per cent have power to use in lightening their household tasks, 95 per cent have screened windows and doors, 95 per cent have sewing machines, 72 per cent have telephones, 62 per cent have automobiles, 24 per cent have vacuum cleaners, 47 per cent have carpet sweepers, 21 per cent have some kind of high lift machine, 10 per cent have gas or electric irons. Many women are still without any or all of these conveniences and when their duties as producers of garden, dairy, and poultry products is added to the household tasks, the strain on the strength of the average woman can be long.

One Day With the Farm Woman The following description of the working schedule of a large percentage of farm women, although true to the statements of the survey, may give a somewhat exaggerated impression of the actual work of wife and mother and the compensations that come to every home maker in her round of activities for the happiness and comfort of her family. It should be noted also that the various duties mentioned are a possible part of the day's work would not all be included in any one day.

It is sunrise on a summer morning and a full day's work is facing the farm woman. Of those who answered the questionnaire about 50 per cent are up at 5 o'clock. All must rise early as the average working day is 13.13 hours at this season of the year. The men are on their way to the barn to feed the stock. Sixty-one per cent of the women after lighting the kitchen fire, go to the pump or spring, an average of 40 feet distant, to bring water for the morning meal. The tea kettle filled, the fire burning, and the hearth brushed, 31 per cent may enter the poultry yard to feed the birds that are lustily calling for their breakfast. About 14 per cent of the women report hired help for about three and one-half months in the year. They may delegate the poultry feeding to the helper or, while 36 per cent of the women take their pains and go to the barn to assist in milking the cows, the helper may be setting the breakfast table. This meal is enjoyed by a family averaging five persons.

Breakfast over, the dishwashing is to be done; over 8,000 of the women answer include in this work the washing of the milk pails and 5,703 wash the separators. If there are children in the home, a pause is made in the household tasks to get them off to school; lunch must be prepared, for the district school is on an average 1 1/2 miles distant.

The farm woman has now come to her routine duties. There is a seven-room house (average) to be set in order. A covering on the kitchen floor in 54 per cent of the homes reduces despised scrubbing. Rugs and carpets require brushing. To aid in this 24 per cent of the women have vacuum cleaners.

The beds are made and at least one-half hour is required for filling, trimming, and cleaning the lamps in the 79 per cent of homes here lamps are used. It is now time for some special task of the day. Ninety-four per cent of the women make part or all of the family bread, so it may be baking day; or it may be churning day, for the 60 per cent who do this work; or it may be the day for the weekly washing, done at home in 30 cases out of 100. For 43 per cent having no washing machines, the tub, board, and boiler are brought into use, and where water must be carried, unless the man of the family brings it in, the woman must pump and carry it pail after pail, as required. Running water is found in only 32 per cent of these homes. In 48 per cent water is obtainable by some arrangement in the kitchen.

After dinner has been prepared, served, and the dishes washed, the overenergetic woman may attempt some of the weekly ironing. In that event, 29 per cent will have a gas or electric iron to accomplish the task.

Part of the afternoon may be considered a time of leisure, with nothing more arduous to do than the family meal, which occupies an average of three and one-half hours a week, or, as 92 per cent of the women do some or all of the family sewing, part of the afternoon may be given to that duty.

The program of to-day may not include the ironing, baking, or mending, but rather a trip to town, about 5 miles distant, to market the eggs and butter and to bring back groceries and other supplies. An automobile is part of the equipment on 62 per cent of the farms reporting.

The End of a Busy Day

It may be the growing season and the garden requires attention; 56 per cent of the women spend some time weeding, hoeing, and tending the vegetable and flower gardens.

It may be that by this time a child has returned from school to claim some of mother's attention. Mother also recalls a community gathering to be held that afternoon, but what single task could have been put aside to enjoy an hour with her neighbors?

"The day is dying in the west and the loving herd" is moving toward the barnyard. So is the farm woman, who again takes her pail and spends some time in milking. The eggs from an average of 90 hens must be gathered; a pleasant duty, no doubt, for the 16 per cent of women who have the egg money for their personal use.

It is time for the evening meal. Perhaps only one man returns hungry from the field, but there may be five or six, depending on the time of the year and whether the silo is to be filled, the grain thrashed, or the corn cut—work which requires an average of five additional men for at least six weeks in the year on 80 per cent of the 6,083 farms reporting. The supper dishes are again augmented by the milk pails and separator. In addition to these varied household tasks 24 per cent of the women reporting spend an average of six weeks in the year assisting with some part of the field work, and 26 per cent help to bed and feed the live stock.

Setting the sponge for to-morrow's bread baking may be among the last of the day's duties, or it may be that those who keep farm accounts (32 per cent) and home accounts (30 per cent) will put out their day books and ledgers and check up expenditures.

Small wonder is it when this is done if the average farm woman leaves the tempting new book or magazine unopened, postpones writing the long-delayed letter, even forgets the bedtime story or confession of small son or daughter as she calls this day finished, in which labor has been so sparingly balanced with leisure and recreation.

Economic Importance of the Farm Woman

The loss to family and community by the waste of woman's energy here described could be prevented by a reasonable amount of planning and well-directed investment in modern equipment. There is much talk nowadays of the economic importance of a contented rural population willing to stay on the land and help to build it up. Perhaps the greatest factor in bringing this about will be the healthy, alert, and expert home maker, who will see to it that a part of the highest income from the farm is directed toward the improvement of the home as a means of contentment and stimuli for farm work. Economists of our country, seeing the steady migration cityward, recognizing the dearth of farm labor as a limiting factor in production, and connecting this with the isolation and convenience of rural living conditions, are pointing out that where these exist it is doubtful business policy to use increased income to buy more land with heavy interest charges against it, rather than to spend part of that income in raising standards of living so that farm women may find contentment in comfortable, efficient homes, and young people will not necessarily go to the cities in search of attractive living conditions and amusement.

Hence the interest in the returns from these studies as to labor, working equipment, and compensations of the farm woman is as practical as its interest in farm studies regarding the labor, machinery, and crop returns of the farmer and for the same general reason.

Some Facts From the Survey A walkout might be foreshadowed in some industries where love and service were not the ruling motives by conditions brought out which show that the average working day, summer and winter, for over 9,000 farm women is 13.13 hours, and that 87 per cent of 8,773 women report no regular vacation during the year.

The amount of time spent in household tasks could be reduced and some of the tasks eliminated if the principles of modern business were applied, and the labor and time spent on others would be lessened if the farmhouse were as well equipped as the up-to-date barn. The farmer usually considers modern machinery as so much currency with which to buy efficiency.

Keeping the Home Fires Burning

Nine thousand of the seven-room houses (average) are supplied with from one to two stoves, not counting the kitchen range. This adds to the total work of 54 per cent of the rural women, who when heat is needed not only carry into the house the coal or wood to feed these stoves but, according to their statements, kindle the fires in the morning and keep the home fires burning throughout the day.

As power on the farm is the greatest of time and labor savers for the farmer, so power in the home is the greatest of bonuses to the housewife. Of the total number answering the question, 45 per cent reported power for operating farm machinery. When we consider that it is a simple matter to connect the engine used at the farm with household equipment it seems a singular fact that but 22 per cent of the farm homes reporting have this advantage. Power for such frequently recurring tasks as churning and using the washing machine would greatly relieve the farm woman and give her a satisfying sense of modern efficiency.

Running Water in Few Farm Homes It is frequently stated that running water is the pivot upon which much modern convenience depends. Of those reporting but 32 per cent of the homes have running water, that means water drawn from a faucet, and implies that water may be in other rooms besides the kitchen. Forty-eight per cent of the homes have water in the kitchen only; this means a pump or possibly a rubber hose attached to a barrel located inside or outside of the kitchen. However, in 60 per cent of the homes there is a sink with drain, even though in many cases the water used at the sink has to be carried into the house by the painful. In 61 per cent of the homes into which the water must be carried, this work is done by women. Of 6,754 women answering the question, 20 per cent have bathtubs in their homes. The State ranking highest reported 48 per cent, and the one ranking lowest 3 per cent of homes having bathtubs.

The Dairy

Thirty-five per cent of the farm women reporting make butter to sell. Since butter making either for home use or for sale adds one item to the farm woman's overworked schedule, it would seem to be justified only when a good creamery is not within reach. Experts advise that normally the best utilization of milk is to send surplus to a creamery, after reserving an ample supply for home use; as the income from the dairy herd is usually greater when the produce is handled by the creamery than when butter is made at home.

MANCHESTER MAN IS ENTHUSIASTIC

"I Can't Say Enough For Tanlac After What It Did For Us"

He Declares

"Both my wife and myself have been benefitted so much by Tanlac that I can't say enough for it," said Philip Pinard, 175 Hanover street, Manchester, N. H., a few days ago. Mr. Pinard is a mason and builder and well known in Manchester, having lived there for nearly fifty years.

"Why, Tanlac has fixed me up in such good shape that I feel as well as I did in my boyhood days. For the past year I had just felt miserable from loss of appetite, weak stomach and a general run-down condition. I could not eat much of anything and my food disagreed with me so that at times while at the table a feeling like a lump would come in the pit of my stomach and I would bloat up with gas and suffer such pain that I had to get up and leave. I also had a severe pain in my back, felt weak and nervous and some nights could hardly sleep at all. I invariably got up in the mornings feeling as tired as on going to bed."

"But it was only a short time after I began taking Tanlac until I realized I was getting back to my old self. I have taken five bottles now and feel as fine as when I was a young man. My appetite is wonderful and my stomach is in such good condition that I am eating three hearty meals a day and never feel a touch of indigestion. I no longer suffer from backache or nervousness and can sleep the whole night through without waking up once. I always get up mornings feeling thoroughly rested and refreshed and ready for a hearty breakfast and a good day's work. In fact I am feeling simply fine and all credit for my splendid health belongs to Tanlac."

Tanlac is sold in Norway by A. L. Clark Drug Co., in West Paris by S. T. White, and by O. H. Haskell, Sweden, R. D. from Harrison.

nearest church, and 4.8 to the nearest market, shows that country people are far enough from the center of trade, social, and religious activities to tempt the spirit of individualism and to put their neighborliness and piety to the test. It points to the importance of pooling individual interest in common community enterprises, such as canning kitchens, buying centers, markets, laundries, salvage shops, and sewing rooms, as well as social centers for lectures, community sings, dramatics, and games, which, if properly handled, break down the isolation of country homes and make possible the accomplishment of many otherwise difficult tasks with a saving of time and labor for the housewife, and often an opportunity for increased income as well as recreation for the entire family.

The automobile contributes materially to community life by reducing the distance factor. In an average of 63 per cent of farms of the 9,545 reporting own cars. The telephone also helps to overcome distance in 72 per cent of the 9,742 homes reporting.

The Rural Health Problem

Fortunate is the farm family whose members know the rudiments of caring for the sick.

According to the figures in the survey, the average farm home is more than 5 1/2 miles from the family doctor, nearly 13 miles from a trained nurse, and about 14 miles from a hospital. This means that even though the farm home be provided with an automobile and a telephone, the farm family may be obliged to act unaided in case of sickness, child birth, or serious accident, and that its members perhaps need more than ordinary training to prepare them for such exigencies. Along with proper nutrition, clothing, and exercise, sanitary conditions have an important bearing on the health of children and adults on the farm. On the basis of 9,580 reports, 80 per cent of rural homes still have an outdoor toilet. Only 20 per cent (6,734 answering) have bathtubs, and this does not necessarily imply hot water in connection. Almost universally the houses are screened, as indicated by the 96 per cent. The desirable screened kitchen which is found, however, in but 32 per cent.

Few Children in Rural Homes

Among the surprises in tabulating the surveys was the small number of children in farm homes, 7,467 reports show an average of but 1.18 under 10 years of age for each home and but 0.89 between 10 and 16 years of age. It may be of interest here to note that the number of children in rural homes of the East falls below the country-wide average, the report showing 0.9 children under 10 years and 0.77 children between 10 and 16 years, on a basis of 2,373 reports, while that in the western section is the highest with 1.4 children under 10 years (1,734 reports) and 0.97 children between 10 and 16 years (1,823 reports).

In any event child life is at a premium in rural districts, and for the future of our agriculture, if for no other reason, an intelligent effort should be made and as much money expended to safeguard the child crop on the farms as to safeguard other crops that have to do with building up the farmstead.

SEA BREEZES

Written from Great Diamond Island, Portland Harbor, July 27, 1920, by Judge C. F. Whitman:

Editor of the Advertiser: We have been here in our cottage by the sea for a week and have much yet to do in getting settled. At the wharf in the city we met Dr. Frank P. Stone, the Norway druggist, on his way to Great Cheabegagne, where, with friends, he is stopping for a month. He was in great glee at my expense on account of his boat being scheduled to start 30 minutes before ours, but they had such a big crowd to go on that boat that it was delayed in starting and though it lacked out of its dock before our boat we had landed at the Great Diamond wharf when the boat Dr. Stone was on went by. I waived a defiant salute as he passed. Your "Uncle Dudley" don't usually come in second when he is driven into a contest or forced into action.

We are finely located here among the best of people. The surroundings are all pleasant and agreeable. We have never seen a summer cottage with more conveniences. It is well furnished with good material. It was once the residence of the British Consul at Portland. He called it "The Albion Cottage" from "the chalky white cliffs of old England." It will have another name, I feel, when we have entertained here some of my closest friends. Mr. J. H. Day, a member of the firm of Emery-Waterhouse & Co., hardware dealers in the city, and one of the principal members of the Island Association says that it will now be known as the "Whitman Cottage."

Thursday Verné unexpectedly appeared to our great delight and much assisted us towards getting settled. He and I have roamed about the island and one day went up to the city after some necessary articles. We have been over to the fort on the north end of the island and Sunday afternoon went to the "Cliff" and saw the sun set upon the finest view in all Casco Bay. I had supposed one had to go down the harbor to see anything like this scene with old ocean stretching away to the eastward as far as the eye can reach, but am happily disillusioned and prize our place the more, since this magnificent scene in clear days is so near.

I think I purchased a great bargain, but after the presidential election prices and values will tumble as they are sure to! The reign of the profiteers will be over in a year, good judges say, and the more they are squeezed, the better we ought to like it. No level-headed person ought to declare that a particular valuation in a given town is too low. After every war, inflation prices and values mightily shrink and the Great World War will be no exception. A man interested as a broker, in the stock market, and not as a politician, told me that the conditions existing for many months, clearly foreshadowed a change of the national administration and policy, and was the reason for the early betting at odds of two to one for a change. I have nothing to unload, have bought to keep and don't care if only the robber profiteers get squeezed as they deserve to be. There are millions of people waiting with what patience they may have for that day of reckoning.

Although the Island Association furnishes water, to the cottages, pumped from wells into a big reservoir, I learned of a spring under a hill over near the fort where we get our drinking water. It is as fine and cool as one could wish.

We went one day down to the private wharf of the Association, but a few rods away, now no longer in use and saw several "mermaids" sporting in the waters of the bay. They were becomingly and modestly dressed, even to having light shoes on. I took off my hat to them with the greatest respect. I couldn't help contrasting their modest apparel with that of modern society women—"two strings" over naked shoulders attached to what—I don't know. Who but a braying animal—"an egregious ass," in the language of Artemus Ward, could approve such attire or have much real respect for a woman so partially dressed.

Well, we don't see any of that class here. We saw a curious sight one day, as the tide was coming in. The water had covered the bar between Little and Great Diamond so that it looked and was a part of the Bay. A man was driving a team across—the water coming up to the wagon body—the horse showing very little of his legs except next to its body. The next day about the same hour, I saw a man rowing a boat over the same course.

A Mr. Foster who has a cottage near the golf links furnishes the people who do not get them in the city, with the daily papers. His father was a Norway man. I must look up the genealogy. In my next communication I'll have among other things, something to say about the men I have got acquainted with and the characters I have run across.

C. F. Whitman.

P. S. I forgot to mention that the fog horn kept me awake nearly all one night. The only consolation I got out of it was that Dr. Stone, down the Bay, must have been having a similar experience.

EVENTS IN THE WEST

Of Interest To Maine People; Written By Joseph Andrews

My family, "the ministers," the Rev. W. J. and May A. Williams, about the middle of June, had a call to the Puritan Congregational Church in Pittsburg, Pa., which they accepted and the above will be my address for some time to come. My 17 year old granddaughter, Margaret Williams, graduated from the Marietta, Ohio, high school in June and in September will enter Oberlin College for a four year course.

The following extracts from a letter just received from Mrs. Swan of Hopy Camp, California, will explain the sad ending of the accident of which I wrote in my last letter to the Advertiser. Under date of July 16th she wrote in part as follows: "I have had the greatest sorrow of my life in the death of my dear daughter, Irene, which occurred about one o'clock in the morning of May 21st very suddenly, and we will never know the cause of her untimely death any more than that it was the result of accident."

"On May 13th, 3 she had the misfortune to break one bone of her leg between the knee and ankle, a simple break, the doctor pronounced it, and told us there was no cause of worry. She was getting along alright apparently, had no pain, a good appetite, cheerful and happy, counting the days until she could come home and have her leg taken out of the splints. That night she woke up about twelve in great pain. Her husband, who was alone, did everything that he could to relieve her, but in vain. Inside of an hour she was gone. They were living up at their mine ten miles from us with no neighbors and the doctor would not permit her to be moved as she could have been there were friends eager to carry her down safely on a stretcher where I could have cared for her—I could not be in two places at once—but he would not allow her to be moved. My heart is broken, she was very dear to me. Naomi H. Swan."

The following letter from a former Lovell boy will be of interest to some of your readers. "June 14th, 1920. Your letter of June 7 received. I had lost trace of you for some time. Will now give you the information asked for in your letter. My wife had a stroke five years ago this month. She is still living, but not able to do much of anything, was not out of the house from last Christmas until spring and is not going out without help. Augustine is still in Florida, has not come north this year, has been in bad health most of the time for the last year or two, but is somewhat improved now. His wife died about five years ago from the effects of a stroke. Conny's wife died last year; he was in Florida last winter, but is in Ebersburg now, but does not keep house. Valley's widow and daughter and family are living with her here. My health is fairly good. I am 73 years old. Eugene Barker died last fall from the infirmities of old age. We (Barker Bros.) are not now in the mercantile business. We closed out our business 4 years ago. Conny was then in poor health and my health was not very good then, so we closed out and are not in any particular business now. We have had a very severe winter but the weather is pleasant now."

The Barker Bros., Valentine, Florentine, Augustine, and Constantine, and their father, Abraham Andrews Barker, and wife (nee Little) and Eugene Barker and wife (nee Mary Hamblin) were all born at Lovell Center and about 1860-65 moved to Ebersburg and Johnstown, Pa., where they became leading and wealthy citizens of their adopted state.

I would like to quote a few extracts from an obituary notice published in the Douglass, Wyo. paper a few weeks ago. Andrew Cooper born at Salmon Falls, Mass., August 3, 1830, married Esther Andrews in 1853. In 1864 came to Ebersburg, Iowa, where he lived for 20 years; in 1884 he moved to Laborer Wyo., where he died in his 90th year. His wife died 4 years ago. They leave 3 children, 14 grandchildren, and 7 great grandchildren.

Although not born in Lovell, he married a Lovell girl. He bought a small farm three miles from Naples, Iowa, where his family lived while he worked at his trade, that of a machinist, in a nearby city. When he went to Iowa he settled on an 80 acre farm that he had previously bought. Uncle Sam, he was the pioneer settler of the Lovell Center, Oxford Co., Maine colony who came were his wife's father, Uncle Isaac Andrews, the first child born in Lovell; his wife's three brothers, William, Jacob, and Isaac Andrews, and sister Sarah Ayers, with their families, John and Frank McDaniels, Col. Sam Hamblin, Mrs. Stephen Stearns and her four children, Wilbur, Stephen, Sewell and Ella, and Moses McKen, all from Lovell Center; and from nearby towns came George Piper and family, Mrs. Piper being a sister of Mr. Cooper (and still living here with her sons at the good old age of 94). Daniel Scribner, Frank Colby, myself and perhaps others, whose names may have escaped my memory.

Crops in this locality were never better. Oat harvest began last year and the oats are good in yield and of good weight. None of my neighbors raise wheat. Blight and rust has nearly ruined the spring wheat crop both this year and last. Wages for farm help is almost out of sight, from $80 to $125 a month with board, room and laundry furnished. Farm rents are also very high. I know of one man who pays $3,600 cash rent for a 360 acre farm.

The price of corn took a big tumble in the last three weeks. From about $1.70 to $1.30 a bushel. Live hogs on the local market bring about $14.00 a hundred. Farm lands continue to boom. A neighbor of mine living a mile and a half west of me has his 160 acre farm listed at about $200,000. Sugar is around 30c a lb. and potatoes are down to 6c a pound. Flour about nine dollars a hundred.

On Friday of this week I plan to start for Pittsburg, Pa., where I expect to spend the fall and winter with my daughter and her family. I shall visit on the way with my Yankee friends, the Hamblins, at Madison, Wisconsin, and also with a few new found friends at Wayland, Ohio. Next spring, if all goes well, I hope to visit back to my old homestead for a year and last winter I take me out to travel for 1921, which I take me out to Western South Dakota and Wyoming and later in the season I am quite sure will take me back to Old Lovell Town, to greet once more the few remaining gray-haired boys and girls who still remain this side the grave. View again the grand old mountains, walk along the sandy shores of dear old Kesar, pick blueberries, and blackberries on "Blueberry Knowl" and the old abandoned pasture and wander along the paths that were so dear to me in my boyhood days. Yours truly, Joseph Andrews, 2220 Carey Way, Carson Station, Pittsburg, Pa.

NATIVE OF EAST HIRAM

Harry W. Douglas, jealous and angered because his proposal of marriage was rejected, shot and killed Mrs. Grace Cummings of Cambridge, Mass., Saturday night, July 31, as she lay in her bed preparing to go to sleep, and then turned the weapon on himself inflicting a serious wound in the back of the head. The tragedy is the outcome of a love affair, the young woman having once consented to marriage and the date of the wedding having been set for the first of September.

A few days ago Mrs. Cummings informed Douglas she had decided that she did not care for him enough to marry him, citing her past matrimonial experience with a former Cambridge druggist. Douglas at once, it is reported, flew into a rage and threatened to kill the young woman.

Douglas is a native of East Hiram, and at the outbreak of the war enlisted in the 5th Cavalry, regular army. He was discharged from the service at Fort Bliss, Texas, April 30, 1919, and at once returned to Boston, taking up his residence with an aunt in Chelsea.

WEST GREENWOOD

CROWDED

A polite young man surrendered his seat to a strange young lady—with hesitation.

"What's the matter with you," asked his companion, "don't you know that isn't being done this season?"

"I know it isn't—but standing saves the creases in my trousers," replied the polite young man as he gazed down at a practically bagged pair of knees.

Our idea of this situation is that it must be aggravating when a fellow has to take such precautions to save his appearance.

A KUPPENHEIMER suit would have saved him the trouble of being so polite—and speaking to a young lady he did not know.

Dizzy

If you get up in the morning feeling dizzy and weak, it usually indicates a sluggish liver, or poor digestion. Aside from its unpleasantness, this condition may become dangerous; it should be checked before your vitality becomes impaired, and you are then less able to withstand disease.

A teaspoonful of "L.F." Atwood's Medicine will stimulate the action of your digestive organs, and re-establish normal conditions. Taken regularly, it will quickly restore your vitality, and you will sleep soundly and awake refreshed and clear-headed.

Powders and tablets containing Acetanilid or other coal-tar derivatives tend to weaken the heart's action. The true "L.F." simply sets natural methods in action and benefits the entire system. If you have never used it send for a bottle now. Your druggist sells it for 50c. a bottle, 60c. a dozen. The "L.F." Medicine Co., Portland, Maine.

GET A GOOD GRIP

ON HEALTH

Look out for the unnatural weakness that indicates thinning of the blood and lack of power. It means that your bodily organs are starving for want of good nourishment; that the red corpuscles are fewer, unequal to demands of health. Hood's Sarsaparilla increases strength of the delicate and nervous, restores red corpuscles, makes the blood carry health to every part, creates an appetite.

If you need a good cathartic medicine, Hood's Pills will satisfy.

EMPIRE GROVE CAMP MEETING

For many years there has been held a Methodist Camp Meeting at Empire Grove East Poland. There is to be such a meeting this season. It will not be the old time meeting. That cannot be without the old time conditions and the old time people. Intensive study and preparation are required now, rather than mere emotional stirring. The program combining institute and camp meeting features is intended to meet this need.

The mornings will be given largely to institute work. This will be of interest to all, being in the form of addresses and discussions. Rev. A. J. Croft, pastor-evangelist from the West, who has been doing very successful work in the state under direction of the Board of Home Missions, will conduct a series of studies on evangelism, and will speak each evening. Sunday school work will be given an important place on the program under the direction of Rev. G. M. Gearhart of Chicago, who is at the head of the Adult and Christian Education Department of the Methodist Sunday School Board. There is being arranged a series of addresses by selected speakers, on opportunities for aggressive church work. Among these speakers are Rev. I. A. Bean, H. S. Dow, R. F. Lowe, C. L. Wheaton, and Dr. L. D. Bristol of the State Board of Health. This address will be on Thursday, August 19th, and should be heard by a large number for it will concern community health and welfare. Dr. L. E. Lovejoy of Boston will be present two or three days in the interests of Christian Stewardship.

On the afternoons there will be the usual camp meeting services and the evening will have evangelistic meetings. The last Sunday, the people will have the rare privilege of hearing Bishop P. M. Bristol of Chattanooga, Tenn. This will be a great day and no one should miss it. Children's work will be in charge of Miss Hulburd, deaconess of Lewiston. Music is always a feature of the camp meetings. That this will be of a high class is assured by the leadership of G. E. Jones of Auburn, with Bertha Dow at the organ, Cornet, trombone, violin, in the hands of expert players will add to the interest.

Board and lodging can be had on the grounds at reasonable rates. There are no gate or registration fees. All services are open to the public. Everybody is invited. The strong program cannot fail to attract and every indication points to a large attendance.

Herman Holt and family called at Herbert Taylor's of Slab City Sunday July 25th and took supper with their cousin, Mrs. William Vance of Lowell.

Mrs. Sophia McAllister of East Stoneham is visiting her son, Ingalls McAllister.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Tracy and daughter Ruth Tracy and Mrs. Edward of Norway visited at Merritt Savin's August 1st. Richard Holt who has been at his grandfather's for some weeks returned with them. Della Holt stayed with her grandfather for a visit.

David McAllister, Jr. and Chester Holt are working for E. C. Henley in his new mill.

J. F. Lord called on his daughter, Mrs. Ernest Browne one day last week.

Herman Holt and family visited his brother and sister, Merton Holt and Mrs. Etta Holt of Hanover, Friday.

Not very good hay weather the past week. A good deal of hay is cut and put in the barns. Grass is of very good quality and remains green and not a very bright sun to dry it in good shape makes haying slow. It has been almost impossible to cut and hay makes more work to handle it over and get it in good shape.

ALBANY

Tyler Cole was carried to the C. M. G. Hospital last week.

George H. Holt was carried to Greenwood to work haying for John Deagan.

Herbert Bean was up from Lewiston Saturday and helped hoe his potatoes. The Churchill brothers helped him in the afternoon to cultivate and hoe. Arthur Bean, son of Amos Bean, will finish hoeing them this week. He is a very smart boy to hoe up there when the grass is up twice as high as the potatoes are.

Anna Cummings visited in Lewiston and Auburn last week and will visit part of this week in Norway.

D. A. Cummings visited his sister, Mrs. S. J. Grover, in her home last week, also visited his old friends, George and Mrs. Buchanan has a fine job in the garage at Brunswick. He is an old hand at it, for he has worked all the time at it for the last 15 years, except the winter he lived in D. A. Cummings' house and cut pulp wood at the corner.

D. A. Cummings sent a crate of hens to Auburn a short time ago.

The farmers have one thing to rejoice over this year if nothing more. They find only a small crop of potato bugs to fight compared with other years, since 1880.

EAST SWEDEN.

Mrs. Varona Durgin is stopping at Mrs. Mary Kneeland's.

H. H. Bisbee has sold his span of work horses and is using his Packard truck to haul lumber, etc., with.

Mrs. Albert H. Critchett, with three children are making their summer home at the Brown house, and visiting relatives and friends in this section. Just now Mrs. Critchett and family are stopping with her mother, Mrs. Will Glines, for a few days at North Bridgton. Mrs. Critchett is from Melrose, Mass., where her husband, Albert H. Critchett, is working at his trade, an electrician.

The Kimball brothers, Lee and Wyman, have six acres of sweet corn planted for the factory, we learn.

Albert Smart is working at Camp Wigwam, South Waterford.

Harry Smart and son Hayward, have been cutting the hay on the Edwards and McIntire farms. Harold Merrill is helping with his horses.

D. T. Adams has been cutting hay at North Bridgton, having cut two different lots and is now haying at home here.

AUGUST Is The Month

Our store policy is this,—not to carry over merchandise to another year, that was purchased for this season's business. Regardless of the cost, we have marked the remaining summer stock at very low figures. It will be to your advantage to come in and look around. You will find here and there many things that you cannot afford to let pass.
